

About

Last Modified on 05/30/2020 2:27 am EDT

I am a Community Builder and freelance writer based in Manchester, England. I work for software companies helping them to create compelling content that builds their communities.

I believe in:

- Helping people
- Creative and ethical companies
- Collaborative creativity
- Creative connection
- We create each other
- Community artists
- Local and sustainable
- Global and visionary
- Bringing your best self to work
- Business as a force for good
- The future is remote work
- Flexible work-life balance
- Empowering yourself through freelancing
- Technologists as creatives
- Software can change the world
- Your colleagues are your family
- Your clients are your best friends

Here's my freelance website: awaywithwords.co

Here's my Instagram: <https://www.instagram.com/teaandmadness/>
