Fucking hellfire!

We're not depressed;

We're in despair,

For humanity.

We're rich in spirit,

And that's the crucial difference

Between us and them--

The happy clowns,

Who think life

Is one endless party.

Why seek religion,

When the devil is in our own heart?

God won't cast him out--

Only Satan can do that,

Unabashed,

And bold.

If you're not angry with life,

You're not living;

You're running

Straight towards the grave.

Live for today,

We have no idea

What tomorrow will bring.

Do what terrifies you.

Run,

Scream;

Make people want to put you behind bars.

That's how you know

You're still doing something right.

You're still putting up a good fight,

When everyone else

Has laid down in their grave.

And if I am fucking depressed,

What could be more natural than that?
